Biography

Jordan Banjo - Dancer & TV Presenter

Jordan Banjo is a dancer and presenter, best known for being an original member of the UK's most iconic dance group, Diversity, and host of Kiss Breakfast every morning alongside co-star Perri Kiely.

Jordan has had multiple prime hosting roles, from the BBC's The Greatest Dancer and Eat Well For Less, to ITV's Digital Reporter for Dancing On Ice and Sky's Got To Dance.

He starred in both the 2016 series of I'm a Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here and was subsequently the runner-up on the 2023 All-Stars version of the show in South Africa.

Recently, Jordan has moved into the world of boxing – both presenting and competing. Working for DAZN, and aiming to get into the ring himself, it is no surprise that boxing runs in his veins, as his father, Funso Banjo, was a professional boxer himself.

Co-written with his brother Ashley Banjo, Jordan published his first children's novel, Fly High Crew and subsequently released the sequel, The Day We Saved The Future.

Commercially, Jordan has worked with some of the UK's most beloved brands, from Sky and Samsung, to Tesco and Nestle.

The Day We Saved the Future (the exciting, action-packed new book from Diversity dance superstars!)

An action-packed, laugh-out-loud, high-energy story for boys and girls celebrating family, friendship and brotherhood, and starring a time-travelling supercar. From TV personalities and Diversity street dance superstars, brothers Ashley and Jordan Banjo When billionaire satellite tycoon Noel Riche announces his latest project, the whole world tunes in - including brothers Cass and Micah. But Riche's scheme is to rain asteroids on the planet until he is given absolute power - and there's nothing anyone can do to stop him. Or is there? As the brothers flee a hail of meteors which demolishes their school, they are intercepted by an amazing time-travelling supercar, sent back from the future by their older selves to recruit them for a crucial mission. They must travel back to the 1990s, befriend Noel Riche as a child their own age, and put right what once went wrong - all the while pursued by sinister agents from Riche's dystopian future. Perfect for fans of Tom Fletcher and Alesha Dixon. Written in collaboration with Alexandra Sheppard Full of fantastic pictures by Brittney Bond
