

Pamela Brown

JOURNALIST · MEDIA PERSONALITY

Senior Washington Correspondent

About:

- Gender: Female
- Nationality: United States
- Languages: English
- Travels from: United States

Engagement Types:

- Moderating and Emcee
- Speaking

Topics:

- Motivation and Inspiration
- Personal Development

Biography Highlights

- Anchor, 'CNN Newsroom'
- Health Advocate

Biography

Award-winning CNN Anchor and Chief Investigative Correspondent, Pamela Brown inspires audiences to advocate for themselves and stay the course when someone tries to shake them off. Brown began her career at ABC7/WJLA-TV and NewsChannel8 in Washington D.C., where she became a Sunday evening anchor and an Emmy®-nominated special projects reporter covering several national and international stories. Known for her journalistic tenacity, Brown now anchors CNN Newsroom. Brown previously served as the network's Justice and Supreme Court correspondent covering law enforcement, as well as issues related to the Department of Justice and the U.S. Supreme Court.

As a speaker, Brown is a stellar moderator and provides her personal experiences with working motherhood, Alzheimer's, and the many groundbreaking stories she has aired. Brown has delighted hosts including J.P. Morgan, The Aspen Institute, Salesforce, and more.

Videos

Pamela's Topics

Advocating For Yourself

As the Senior White House Correspondent for CNN, Pamela Brown has learned how to stay the course when someone tries to shake her off. She knows the art of the follow up question that gets the answers she wants – a skill she honed as a professional member of the press and also as a woman who has built her career by knowing her value, advocating for herself and persisting.

Available: In person, Virtually

My Family's Alzheimers Journey

Pamela Brown has a deep empathy for those who struggle with Alzheimers and those who care for them. In this talk, Pamela shares her grandmother's Alzheimers journey and the impact it had on her family, as well as poignant lessons learned along the way about love, grief and caregiving.

Available: In person, Virtually

Sometimes You Have to Lose to Win

Pamela Brown shares her personal story from local news reporter to White House Correspondent for CNN. She covered the Trump White House during both of her pregnancies, and balances motherhood with a demanding career. But on the road of personal fulfillment, sometimes you have to lose to win. In this intimate talk, Pamela shares some wins and losses of her journey, as well as those moments that transformed into something unexpected- but better.

Available: In person, Virtually

Grief, Postpartum Anxiety, and Getting Through

Pamela Brown, CNN Senior White House Correspondent, still feels the loss of her mother like the day it happened. Her mother passed away due to a rare blood cancer at the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic and Pamela was unable to move through the grieving process due to social distancing. Pamela gave birth to her second child right before losing her mother, and began to experience intense postpartum anxiety until she received the appropriate help and support. Today, she hopes that by sharing her story of grief, postpartum anxiety, and loss, she can remind audiences that they are not alone, and it is more than okay to ask for help.

Available: In person, Virtually

Speaker Bureaus And Talent Agencies

Pamela Brown is available to book via these agencies

✓ Recommended

Speaking Agency