Testimonials

I highly recommend Rachel as a versatile, dynamic and engaging speaker. Her reputation within the accounting profession is second to none and having worked with her most recently at Accountex London – the largest accounting and finance event in the world – I can honestly say that everyone she came into contact with was left feeling energised and impressed by her delivery and style. More than anything I was impressed with her extensive knowledge and the magical way she engages with the audience. Rachel not only provides valuable insights and practical takeaways, she also creates an inclusive environment that encourages the audience and motivates them to make positive changes. Her passion for everything that she does is awe inspiring, her sheer and genuine enthusiasm is contagious. Simply put, I cannot think of a more exciting speaker within the accountancy profession right now

It was a very positive experience working with Rachel and she is an excellent content creator. The videos she makes are really professional and she puts 100% into every one. I also liked how she would send us a draft beforehand and ask follow up questions to ensure we were happy with the final product. Rachel was really accommodating with the pricing and we found the campaign a great value for money. She was very professional and easy to get in contact with throughout the experience, so we always had the support we needed. The whole process was really organised and she was upfront about the requirements so we knew what to send and when. I also found Rachel was really good at following up and she prompted us in advance if she needed any additional information. We evaluated the results together and shared feedback which was a nice way to end to the campaign. Overall we are really happy and we hope to work with her again in the future!
